

PRIME MINISTER

THE MEDIA ON POLAND

The quality and quantity of the press today is a major triumph for you - especially bearing in mind the way coverage gets cut down for the fewer Saturday news columns.

The Independent calls your visit a tour de force and even the Guardian says you said the right things.

Mr Kinnock is left looking rather ludicrous in, along with the TUC, calling you a hypocrite over your approach to British trade unions and your meeting with Solidarity.

These past four days have, as I said on the plane, been somewhat unreal in media terms. Astonishingly, rather difficult to believe, the media have failed to do what they can usually be relied upon to do: to exploit every potential for trouble.

Bernard Ingham

5 November 1988

PRIME MINISTER

THE MEDIA ON POLAND

The quality and quantity of the press today is a major triumph for you - especially bearing in mind the way coverage gets cut down for the fewer Saturday news columns.

The Independent calls your visit a tour de force and even the Guardian says you said the right things.

Mr Kinnock is left looking rather ludicrous in, along with the TUC, calling you a hypocrite over your approach to British trade unions and your meeting with Solidarity.

These past four days have, as I said on the plane, been somewhat unreal in media terms. Astonishingly, rather difficult to believe, the media have failed to do what they can usually be relied upon to do: to exploit every potential for trouble.

no

Bernard Ingham

5 November 1988